SUPRIO PRAMANIK EMON

PROFILE

Since childhood, I have been captivated by technology and this fascination has not changed much. As a computer science student, I work on probability problems and computer codes. I also enjoy playing both recreational and competitive video games. I see myself as interested and persistent rather than hardworking. Development is my passion. I am an energetic and passionate web developer with over 4 years of experience in web and WordPress design and development. I am drawn to creative and artistic pursuits and try to capture them through photography when my inner artist emerges. I am a witty person who seeks good times filled with laughter. Above all, I am a trustworthy and considerate individual.
